My Vision

Music is my passion and my vocation. My goal as an artist is to utilize my skills, experience, and training as a professional musician, composer and teacher to make a meaningful contribution to the life of my community and to global society as a whole. In particular, I aspire to draw on music's unique potential to support meaningful connection and dialogue across barriers of race, class, religion, nationality, and more. In short, my work seeks to focus on the healing and transformative powers of music.

Musical Genres

During my formative years I studied classical and jazz piano and hold a degree in Jazz Studies from the University of Michigan, where my primary teachers included Ellen Rowe, Louis Nagel and Steve Rush. I have studied traditional and contemporary music with masters in Ghana, Cuba and Mexico.

Teachers/mentors have included Clinton Fearon, Quetzal Flores, Chucho Valdés, Joe Santiago, and Laura Reboloso. I am comfortable with a wide-range of musical genres from across the Americas, including Jazz, Reggae, Rock, Afro-Cuban, Son Jarocho, Tango and Afro-Brazilian.
